Idaho Safe Schools Coalition

What difference does it make?

 We all deserve safety and respect at school

Our Mission:

To help Idaho schools become safe places where every family can belong, where every educator can teach, and where every child can learn, regardless of sexual orientation or gender identity.

We strive to fulfill our mission by

-  Fostering partnerships with community organizations, schools, churches, government agencies, businesses, youth, families and educators
-  Raising community awareness regarding the issues facing LGBTQ youth in our community
-  Providing support, resources and training to schools, educators, students, families, and other organizations serving LGBTQ youth
-  Networking and helping to build and maintain state-wide Gay-Straight Alliances and other school clubs focused on human rights and diversity
-  Organizing events and trainings for LGBTQ youth and their allies to teach self-advocacy, reduce isolation, and develop leadership skills
-  Leveraging school boards, school administrators, and legislators to help schools become safer for all students

Here's what some people are saying...

"The ISSC has influenced my child to be more proactive in his school by offering support, education, and guidelines for leading his GSA and advocating for himself. ISSC also introduced him to like-minded peers and mentors who encourage him to become a positive role model in his community. ISSC helps give my son focus and purpose. As a parent, I couldn't ask for a better organization for myself and my son to be a part of."

-ISSC steering committee member and mother of a Caldwell-area high school student

"Having recently dealt with a student contemplating suicide, I can say with certainty that the resources, networking opportunities, and support of the ISSC is literally 'life-saving.' Connecting with other LGBTQ teens and supportive allies at Youth Night and through our school's GSA has made a tremendous difference and positive impact."

-Treasure Valley high school counselor

About Youth Night:

"Organizers of Youth Night succeeded in bringing students from various high schools together for a free, fun event with the goal of teaching acceptance, ending harassment, and empowering people to build safe school environments for everyone."

-Boise-area student

"That was the best night I had in my entire life. I never knew that I would be able to meet lots of people who are just like me."

-Meridian-area student

"Youth Night gave LGBTQ students and allies the tools they need to go back to their schools and make a positive impact."

-Boise-area student

About the Youth Leadership Workshop:

"Personally, I love this whole activity because it brings together people with similar motives in life. I'm really glad to have taken part in this."

-Caldwell-area student
